What is Going On Tonight
Spanish War Veterans' Carnival at Armory.

ARTIFICIAL ARMS

To Be Procured for Joseph Sosnicki—T. C. Gates Takes Measurements.

Joseph Sosnicki, who lost his arms while working at the American Thread company's plant about a year ago, is going to have a pair, and a visitor Friday T. C. Gates, who was the senior of the international surgical convention held in New York April 18th.

Mr. Gates, whose picture featured many of the New York dailies at the time, is the owner or wearer of two artificial arms, yet he can write, shake hands, light a cigar, in fact, do almost anything that a normal man can do with his hands.

Mr. Sosnicki was operated upon at the time of his injury, but a second operation proved necessary, and it was not until about four weeks ago by Dr. C. A. Jenkins. One arm is off shortly below the elbow, the other at the wrist. The measurements for the artificial arms were made at Dr. Jenkins' office Friday and the casts taken the same evening. It will be about six weeks before the new arms will be ready for use.

DIVERSION FOR ALL

Spanish War Veterans' Carnival Opens Friday Evening.

The three nights' carnival of the Spanish War Veterans' association opened Friday night at the armory with a good attendance on hand for the fun. The booths were attractive and there was dancing from 8 to 12 o'clock, no restrictions being placed upon the modern dances, other than decorous conduct in general.

The carnival was formally opened by Mayor Daniel P. Dunn in brief and felicitous address. Then the booths and the dancing claimed the attention of the gathering. No special attractions will be used, but everyone is expected to have a good time, and those present Friday evening seemed to be doing so. Helms orchestra furnished the music for the dancing, with all the latest song hits.

The general committee, to whose efforts the success of the carnival is due, are: Frank P. Panton, chairman; J. E. Flagg, J. B. Gignas, J. J. Howey, J. Hermann, J. Sullivan, F. L. Clark, J. Bernard, M. Kronin, A. W. Sweet and J. S. Daley.

PILFERING AT Y. M. C. A.

Richard Grant, 13, Detected While Robbing the Safe.

A mystery which has given the Y. M. C. A. officials some trouble has been cleared up, and the details were made public Friday morning. Sums of money have been taken from the cash drawer of the organization for some time, and the situation was rather strained, as no one knew just who was responsible.

At the suggestion of the police officials, marked bills were put in the cash drawer, and a constant watch maintained with the result that Richard Grant, a boy of 13, and the son of Adolph Grant, of High street, was caught Wednesday night in the act of abstracting money from the safe and the drawer.

When the money was taken to the station house and admitted a series of petty thefts at the Y. M. C. A. and in private homes, the result was kept quiet and the boy was told to appear in police court Friday morning with his parents. Instead of doing so, he came alone, having told his father or mother about the theft. On the suggestion of prosecuting attorney Eugene B. Smith, the father was named guardian, and should be present in court, the case was continued until this morning.

Primrose & Dockstad's Minstrel Troupe Disbands.
Primrose & Dockstad's minstrel troupe, which was to have played in the Loomer opera house Friday night, came to town, but the result was away again before the time for the performance.

When the parade did not come off as planned, although everyone was here and standing about in groups, it was suspected that all was not right, and financial trouble was the cause, it was hinted.

Later in the day it was discovered that there was a misunderstanding over the pay received during Holy week, the men claiming they should have received full pay, while the management said half pay was all their contracts called for. No agreement was reached, and the troupe was disbanded in an effort to settle the matter, so the men were paid off and the engagement cancelled.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY MEETS

Prosperous and Active Year Ends—Mrs. George F. Taylor Elected President.

The annual meeting of the Woman's auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. was held at 3 p. m. Friday. The reports of committees were heard and accepted, showing a prosperous condition for the first year of the society's existence. During the year new auxiliary china had been purchased by the ladies and they have entertained ministers and other gatherings on quite a number of occasions.

Officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: President, Mrs. George F. Taylor; first vice president, Mrs. Helen Boss Cummings; second vice president, Mrs. William F. Rowley; third vice president, Mrs. H. C. Lathrop; secretary, Mrs. George Spence; treasurer, Mrs. Fayette Goss; and Mrs. Fred Avery, board of managers, Mrs. F. B. Jordan and Mrs. S. B. Doolittle.

Mrs. Effie Webster to Speak

Mrs. Effie Webster of Lynn, Mass., Tuesday, heard and met with the speaker at two services to be held by the First Spiritualist society Sunday, in the morning at 11 and in the evening at 7.30. Howard Miller will sing and Miss Mabelle Taft will provide at the piano at both services.

Cyclists' Annual Meeting

At the annual meeting of the Thread City Cyclists Thursday night the reports showed a prosperous condition of affairs, gratifying to the large number present. The following officers were elected: President, Samuel E. Lyman; vice president, Clinton C. Wood; treasurer, Charles C. Lyman; secretary, John F. Pickett; directors, Dwight M. Lyman, Charles W. Hill; membership committee, Raymond Parker, George W. Hickey, Morton Snow, Bert Olin and Arthur Kelley.

OBITUARY.

Thomas Russell Drown, a death at Foster Friday was that of Thomas Russell Drown, 74, who as a young man lived in Danielson. He left here before reaching his majority and has since lived in Foster at the famous Drown home, a dwelling that remains in a fine state of preservation notwithstanding that it was built 101 years ago. Its ancient halls are covered with the original wall paper, which retains its coloring in a remarkable degree and is otherwise finely preserved. In one of the spacious rooms, high studded as are houses of modern build, is a mantle that is a reproduction of the one in the Washington home at Mt. Vernon. The house was built by Mr. Drown's grandfather. The home place is also famous as the place of origin of the delicious Greening apple. Mr. Drown leaves his wife and one son, Walter, resident in Foster.

Funeral services for James Joslin, who died in Bridgeport Tuesday, were held at the Congregational church in Bridgeport Friday afternoon. Rev. W. H. Gane, pastor, officiated. Burial was in Danville cemetery. L. E. Kennedy was the funeral director. The deceased, who had been living in Bridgeport with his daughter, Mrs. Rowland Bennett, was for many years a resident of Danville. He was a veteran of the Civil war. Mrs. Joslin leaves two daughters, Mrs. Bennett of Bridgeport and Mrs. Frank T. Field of Danville and a son, Thomas Joslin, of Phoenix, Ariz.

Local relatives are at Danielson today to attend the funeral services for Mrs. Marcelline Hamilton, widow of Colonel William H. Hamilton.

Miss Gertrude Hall, teacher in the Putnam school, is recovering rapidly after a serious illness at her home in Nashua, N. H.

Elder Amasa Morse, who is now living with his daughter in Stafford Springs, will next month round out a century of life.

Miss Winifred Potter of Woodstock is to teach in the Delaware Literary institute at Franklin, N. Y.

Writes from Holland.
Local friends have received messages from Rev. John Van den Noort, formerly pastor of St. Mary's church, now living in Holland.

Miss Grace Hawkins and Arthur Anderson have the honor of essays of the graduating class of Woodstock High school this year.

An unusually large number of farms in Putnam and surrounding towns are changing hands this spring, many of the buyers being persons who are to revert to the simple life or have thrown up their city occupations to engage in agriculture.

End of Fair Ground Buildings.
The fair grounds south of the city are stripped of buildings and nothing but the surrounding fence remains of the pretty park where some interesting races, events and fairs have been held in years past. The outlook is for the Woodstock and Brooklyn fairs will have the advantage of agricultural exhibitions this fall.

Invited to Run at Norwich.
Putnam High school athletes have been invited to enter the modified Marathon race to be run at the local school house grounds Sunday. The local school has some good long distance runners and their friends would like to see them go after the honors.

Orange Supper—Manager Barnett Injured by a Fall—Burial of Edward Howard.

The K. P. class of the Methodist church, Mrs. Beattie Sheehan, teacher, served an orange supper at the church vestry on Thursday evening. The supper consisted of orange shortcake, cream, cake and coffee. Ice cream was sold in addition. During the program in the house, given by several members of the class, Elizabeth McCullough, Elvira, Carpenter, Gertrude McLaughlin, Martha Davis and Florence McLaughlin. Miss Sophia Thirber played a violin solo, Raymond Thirber and Mildred McCullough recited a dialogue and Everett McCullough recited a poem. The affair was a financial success.

Teams Break Even.
The Anthony Street Stars and the Mechanic Street Stars played a double header Friday afternoon, each team winning a game. The Anthony Street nine beat the Mechanic Street nine by a score of 17 to 12.
